Dad,

Even though you dislike me alot
I decided to sign this anyway.

Dad I try to put good examples for you but you never seem to follow them. But I guess thats just the way you are. (Hart) your

i wish i knew,
i wish i knew
what makes me me,
what makes you you,
it's just another point of view a state of mind i'm going through so what i see is never true

i wish i could tell,
i wish i could tell
what makes a heaven,
what makes a hell
and do i get to ring my bell while locked up in some dusty cell while others reach the big hotel

i wish i had,
i wish i had the secret of good and the secret of bad
why does this question drive me mad
'cause i was taught when but a lad that that was good and good was bad

i wish i knew the mystery of that thing called hate, that thing called love what makes the inbetween so rough why is it always push and shove
i guess i just don't know enough

Spirits high for registration

The opening of a school year is a big event. Summer is over, (too soon for most) and another year is beginning. Counselors, like Mr. Clever (far right), come early to assist students with schedule preparation and final registration.

The purchase of books is often a major expense as the cash register shows (right). Students and parents often wait in line for hours to get rid of their money (top).

Registration is also a time to renew friendships interrupted by summer. Everywhere there are groups of people, gathered to share three months of gossip. Students are fresh, teachers are renewed, and it seems possible, just possible, that we'll make it through another year.

Black Ivory plays at Sweetheart dance

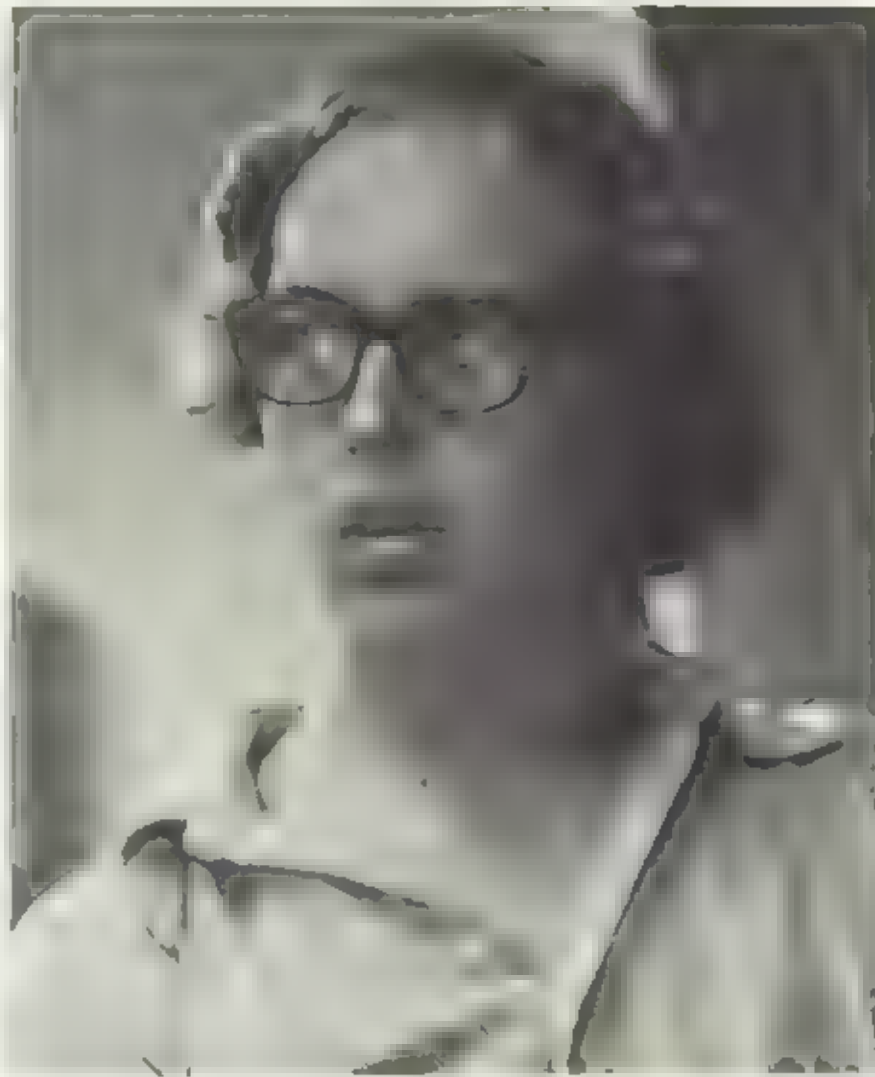

The sound of a rock band reverberating from the gym, Mr. Feller standing at the door checking ID's - these are the signs of a Glendale dance. Everything from the informal Harvest Dance to the hotly contested Prom - a dance was always a sure draw for a crowd.

Dances often featured Glendale talent such as the Factory or Black Ivory. Dress was sometimes casual, occasionally formal but the result was always the same - a chance to meet friends and pass away a day's cares.

The American Field Service strives to promote understanding of various cultures with the hope of achieving international peace and brotherhood. This is done by means of sending students abroad to absorb another's life style.

Glendale has been fortunate to receive a foreign exchange student from Austria, Maggie Mayer.

Glendale exported a foreign exchange student of its own. Martin Klass (above) spent ten weeks living with his "family" in Cheshire, England.

Nancy Meyers and Anne Determan (bottom center) were selected as finalists in Glendale's American Field Service Program. This gave either girl a chance to spend a summer abroad if selected by the AFS Board in New York.

No program can be successful without money and the AFS is no exception. Students cannot be sponsored to Glendale and no one can go abroad without funds.

Clubs and organizations are asked to contribute and separate fund-raising projects are held. One of the most successful was the International Banquet. Guest were served Sauerbraten and Paella in addition to many other tempting foreign dishes, the Community support was encouraging and everyone hopes to see another exchange student next year.

"We've only just begun..."

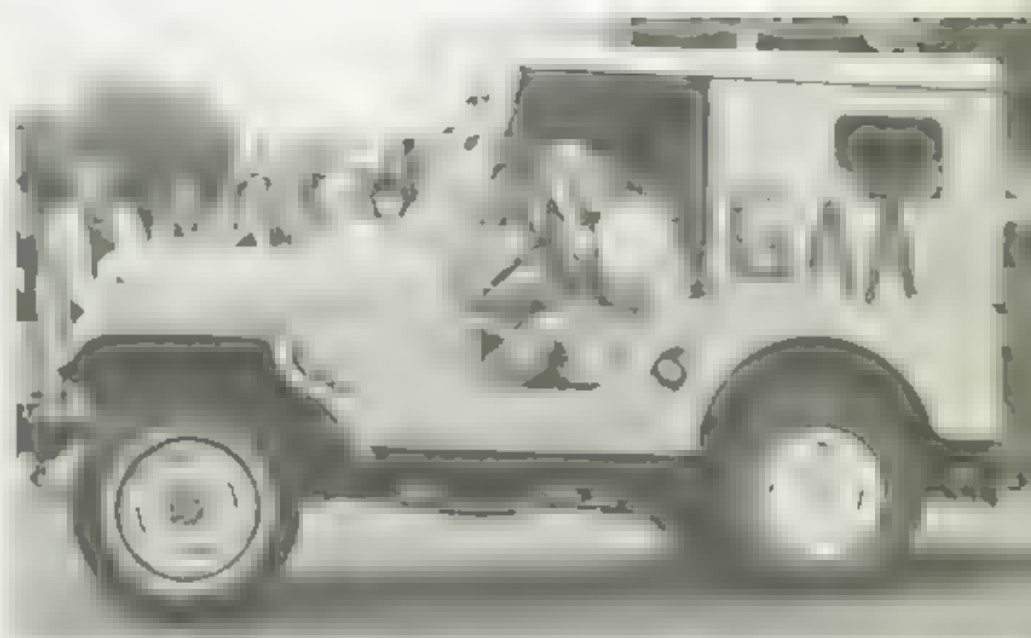

"We've only just begun..." With this theme in mind Glendale students began preparations for Homecoming '71. One of the major events of the year, there was something for everyone with floats to build, a pep rally, a parade, a football game — all culminating in the traditional Homecoming Dance.

Clubs and classes started with float theme, and rolls of chicken wire and thousands of napkins found new homes celebrating the hoped - for downfall of the Paradise Valley Trojans. Parade time came all too soon, but reflected the high spirit of the student body.

While the Cardinal football team was not having one of its better seasons, everyone looked forward to a victory. But this was not to be. Paradise Valley proved a very worthy opponent for one of the closest games of the year. Mistakes were costly and when the final gun sounded, Glendale had lost with a disappointing score of 14-15.

The highlight of the Homecoming celebration came at halftime with the coronation of the royal court. Seniors Gus Burruel and Bobbi O'Keefe were elected by the students, attended by Cyndy Furze, Freddie Espinoza, Isabel Villa, and Jim Coronado. Tears of joy and surprise were evident as "We've only just begun..." became a part of the past.

Top: Much of the play's action revolves around the romantic interest which develops between Anne and Peter, children of the families hiding in the Secret Annex. Here Anne and Peter spend one of their precious hours of privacy.

Top Right: Long hours of rehearsal were evident in the production. Shown here taking a brief respite are Mike Barnard, Dale Schoene, Jamie Griffis and Maggie Mayer.

Right Center: Accompanying the Van Daans into their hiding place was Peter's cat, Mouschi, who provided his master with hours of pleasure. Until his disappearance, his docile presence on stage became a fixture in the play.

Right: A crucial scene occurs when Anne has a terrible nightmare and awakes screaming. Only her father can comfort her and he spends time at her bed side, sharing his courage.

Far Right: During their two-year confinement, tempers grew hot and frequently flared. Space, food, and the rigors of growing up caused almost constant conflict. Here Mrs. Frank, Peter, Anne and Mr. Dussel sit around the dining table pensively considering their fate.

Student Senate is a coordinating body which attempts to organize and regulate the activities of all clubs on campus. Sales, dances, or any other functions must be scheduled through, and approved by the Senate

Several major projects were undertaken through the direction of the governing body. Second semester was the beginning of campus beautification drive, accomplished through the work of various classes. One result of this was the red and gold garbage cans to match the green school. Now the students on campus feel the Christmas spirit all year long

A new development was spirit week held in March. Different classes and clubs to set up booths, sell goodies, and generally do anything to raise the general attitude of accomplishment

Special events throughout the year provided many different interests with something to see. The Christmas assembly had choral music (Above) as well as a rock band (Left). There were also political assemblies (Top) for the civics classes. The Letterman's club sponsored a basketball game between the Harlem Clowns and the Glendale Faculty (Top Right, Center Right, Bottom Right).

Assemblies add spice to campus variety

One event which those attending will long remember was the Harlem Clowns basketball game. Sponsored by the Letterman's Club, it pitted the GHS faculty against the famed cagers. A night of high - jinks and laughs it certainly was. Starring for the faculty were such greats as Dave Cooke, Tim Waters, and Gus Pappas, and they certainly gave their all. The game was sparsely attended but enjoyed by those there

Sweethearts celebrate spring

Floating streamers and dangling balloons set the gay spring mood for the annual Sweetheart Formal, sponsored by Tri-Hi-Y. Members transformed the gym with multi-colored paper and flowers. Sweethearts danced to the music of Glendale's own Black Ivory. The Sweetheart Queen and attendants were selected by the male population of GHS, with each class being represented.

Right. Much of the action of "Oklahoma" revolves around a love triangle. Two men, Curley and Jud, vie for the love of Laurie. Curley wins and he and Laurie are married, but Jud shows up hungry for revenge. They fight and Jud is killed.

Far Right. The character who plays the role of Ali Hakim, the Persian peddler, as he performs his song and dance number.

Below. In spite of Jud's death, the play has a happy ending. "The Surrey with the Fringe on Top" becomes more than just Curley's dream as it escorts the happy couple from the stage.

Below Right. In one of the loveliest scenes from the play, Laurie has a dream about the future with Jud and Curley. In a beautiful choreographed scene, Laurie sees herself with a procession of attendants.

Pom-pon girls boost morale

If you visit the girls' gym any early morning before school, you will see quite a few girls looking very active for the early morning hours. It's not easy to come to school every morning feeling like dancing but somehow the pom-pon girls manage

Having a fine precision line is a tradition with GHS, and this years squad ably carried out the tradition. Hours of practice were necessary for the excellent performances at football and basketball games. All the sophomore, junior and senior members deserve a hearty round of congratulations

Cheerleaders spark pride in school

No school can survive without spirit! The cheerleaders have done a great job this year, cheering at football and basketball games. The cheerleaders managed to keep spirit up even during times of crisis, backing the team 100%.

The cheerleaders consist of both varsity and junior varsity squads. The varsity cheerleaders cheer at varsity games, both home and away. The junior varsity cheerleaders cheer at both junior varsity and freshman games. The cheerleaders are in charge of pep club which puts on a pep rally each year, and other activities to boost spirit. Both cheer and pep club are sponsored by Mrs. Sally Jones.

Not all clubs at Glendale are large, and it is in some of the smaller ones that students enjoy themselves most. FTA provides an outlet for those who may consider education as a career. They frequently serve in elementary schools as aides to the teachers.

Bat Girls was formed last spring as a female auxiliary for the baseball team. They are the official rooters and they also care for equipment.

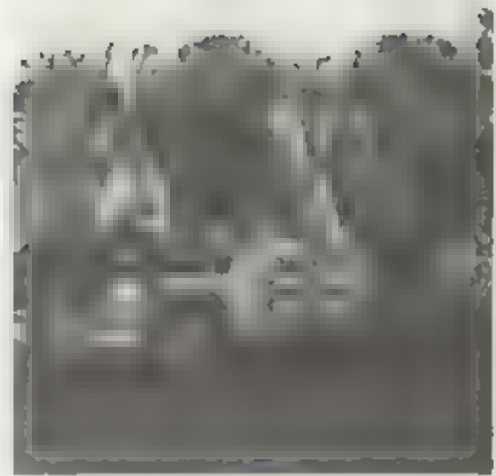

FHA members may be those interested in the domestic arts. They held a cupcake sale early in the year and planned a pretzel sale for late spring.

Probably the newest club on campus is the Yoga Club, dedicated to increasing awareness and understanding through Yoga and meditation. The group meets frequently with outside leadership and has already gained a faithful following

Latin Club has grown in size as interest in the language has increased. Building a lovely float for the homecoming parade was a major effort and earned them a sincere congratulations

French Club has also increased in membership. This group has done much to raise funds for the Bettie Beauchamp Scholarship Fund which is awarded to some student in French at the end of his senior year

Pretzels big at GHS

Languages are among the very popular classes for students. This year five languages were offered and there were clubs to go along with all of them. German Club, a very large club, is famous for its pretzel sales, always popular and guaranteed to earn money. German Club has been very benevolent with its money, giving large sums away for various purposes.

Russian Club is composed of many members of Glendale's Russian Community, as the caption shows. Even though interest in this group seems to be dying out, it is hoped that it will continue.

In the Southwest Spanish is bound to be a winner. Spanish Club was instrumental in planning the Foreign Language Banquet and planned to sell flowers and Spanish food during Spirit Week.

This year's Hi-Y Conquistadors were molded into what a service club is supposed to be by a strong club's will to do something Various community service projects found their way from the group hierarchy to the rest of the club and vice versa. With cooperation from Tri-Hi-Y on joint projects the Hi-Yers organized a Halloween party for Glendale children and a holiday food drive. Their attentions were also directed to Arizona Model Legislature; in which they participated, sponsoring a bill on basic human rights. Their participation in a charity basketball trouncing of FFA and a float built for the Cromper's parade heightened club spirit and unity.

A man named Desmond Morris once wrote a book entitled THE HUMAN ZOO; his inspiration could well have been the 1972 Cardinal Staff. Hours of sitting in a green room and bouncing ideas off the walls is not designed to foster sanity and the staff members were "living" testimony to this Work began Feb. 25 for a March 1 deadline, or so it seemed when workers discovered the mountains of pages yet to be finished. Between the dryer's hungry appetite for pictures and the absent-minded editor, disaster was always imminent. The advisor found it difficult to get home without car keys which took up semi-permanent residence in the editor's pocket

Life was never dull. Two resident monsters appeared. One, Aqualung, was fond of leaving grim calling cards. Another, The Vampire, actually became a pet and was fed at regular intervals. But Carol and Gloria wore their hair long and were safe - Big Wow!

Spurred on by dancing girls, soldiers, and scarlet women, devotion to school (or was it just plain stupidity) reigned and somehow everything was finished. Now, watch this

At GHS, there are even clubs which have been organized to assist athletic teams in their endeavors. Two such groups are Matmaids and Spikettes, auxiliaries for wrestling and track, respectively

Girls in these groups help out by keeping records, handling equipment, and generally making themselves useful. They also provide a cheering section for the teams. This is particularly important since these clubs are most concerned with sports which are not heavily attended by the general public

Both Thespians and Lyre's Club are creative groups, interested in the performing arts of drama and instrumental music. Thespians are largely involved with the fall play and winter musical, this year presenting "The Diary of Anne Frank" and "Oklahoma"

Lyre's Club was responsible for a welcome addition to the school lunch hour, a juke box in the cafeteria. This has been a tremendous hit with everyone and certainly gets a workout from students.

Girls are sports-minded, too, and not just as fans. GHS has varied athletic programs going for females outside of the regular P.E. classes.

Probably the largest club on campus is GAA. Here girls have a chance to participate in many different activities, some even coeducationally. Volleyball, archery, bowling, and field hockey are just a sampling

Social events are also prominent. One of the most popular is the GAA slumber party, this year held in the girls' gym. No one did very much sleeping but then that's not what slumber parties are for

Cardinal season reflects tough opposition

One thing that can be said about the 1971 football season is that it was a rebuilding year. 5 seniors started on offense, and four on defense, leaving juniors and sophomores to supply the bulk of the team.

In the first game of the year the mighty Cards (spoken of as "highly regarded" by the ARIZONA REPUBLIC) invaded Scottsdale only to be scattered across the field by a very strong Beaver offense, 49-7.

The St. Mary's Knights have been beaten Glendale the last four years, but Glendale's hopes to end it were shattered 42-12.

The team looked alive, even though they lost 13-12 to the Sunnyslope Vikings. Gus Burrue ran 75 yards to set up a 7-yard run by Glen Watson. The other score came when Gary Sulzer picked up a fumble and went 20 yards for a touchdown.

Cortez threw a bomb at the Cards when they invaded Glendale and turned them back by the sad and somewhat familiar score of 49-7.

The Cards' experimental "Big-Man" backfield proved too much as they upset the Moon Valley Rockets 13-14. Scott Lauchner ran eleven consecutive times, finally plunging over from the one-yard line. On the extra point attempt a bad snap from center forced Maher to pick up the loose ball and scramble into the end zone for two points.

Moon Valley retaliated with a score in the second period but before the half had ended the "BM" backfield, this time led by Bob Stinnett, scored again with Big Bob bulling over from the 5-yard line.

Glendale bombed the Washington Rams in their first league game 17-0. Gus Burrue was on target as he alternated throwing to receivers Sulzer, Bokowski, and Ezell. Larry Maher kicked a 38-yard field goal to round out the scoring.

Glendale returned home after two road games to face the Brophy Broncos. The Cards were greatly outmuscled and were considerably smaller as they went down heavily by the score of 42-0.

On a cold and windy night in early November Glendale was sadly disappointed as they were edged, 15-14 by the much larger Paradise Valley team.

Cardinal force backed by many Juniors

In the third quarter the Cards drove to score, with Bob Stinnet capping the drive on a one-yard smash. Paradise Valley quickly retaliated with a score, but early in the fourth quarter Glendale came back on a 2-yard run by Burrue. The Trojans scored a few minutes later.

Glendale went up to Flagstaff with hopes of their third victory only to come home empty handed. The Cards, expecting the Eagles to be a push-over, were bounced 32-0.

The Cards closed out the season on a winning note with a 27-20 upset over Prescott. Bob Stinnett ran 7 yards for a score on the first series. In the second half a fired up team, lead by Burrue, scored again, and with a two point conversion they tied it at 14 all. The last two scores came on a 47-yard pass to Bokowski and a one-yard run by Stinnett.

Small J.V.'s finish with 4-4-1 season

The Junior Varsity football team, coached by Mr. Russell McAnerny, finished out their season with a record of four wins, four losses, and one tie. Due to the fact that they lost many valuable players to the varsity squad, that was considered a very successful season.

The team was small and performed well above their capabilities, even when they lost. Coach McAnerny stated, "This is the finest bunch of kids I ever worked with, they would always try hard, even with adverse conditions."

Phil Goss lead the team at quarterback and the defense was lead by middlelinebacker Tony Gonzalez and defensive end Dave Wagner. The 1971 J.V. football squad has definite talent for next year's varsity squad.

Espinoza rated #1 in state

Freddie Espinoza won the Prescott Invitational, Thunderbird Invitational, and all the regular season meets. The team's season opened with a tri-meet against Alhambra and Central. The Cardinals won those two handily. Sunnyslope fell to the Cardinals in a meet that led up to the Thunderbird Invitational. Freddie Espinoza won this race. The Redbird runners then defeat Crozet.

Moon Valley, Washington and Brophy all handed the Cardinal runners defeats. Then came the Squaw Peak Invitational. Freddie Espinoza led all the way on this tough, rocky course until a half-mile from the finish when he tripped. He got up to finish third. Juan Gatica finished a strong 28th.

The Cardinals then lost to Paradise Valley, Flagstaff, and Prescott in succession.

Glendale had its finest season in years during the 1971-1972 campaign, finishing with a 17-1 record which was tops in the Skyline Division

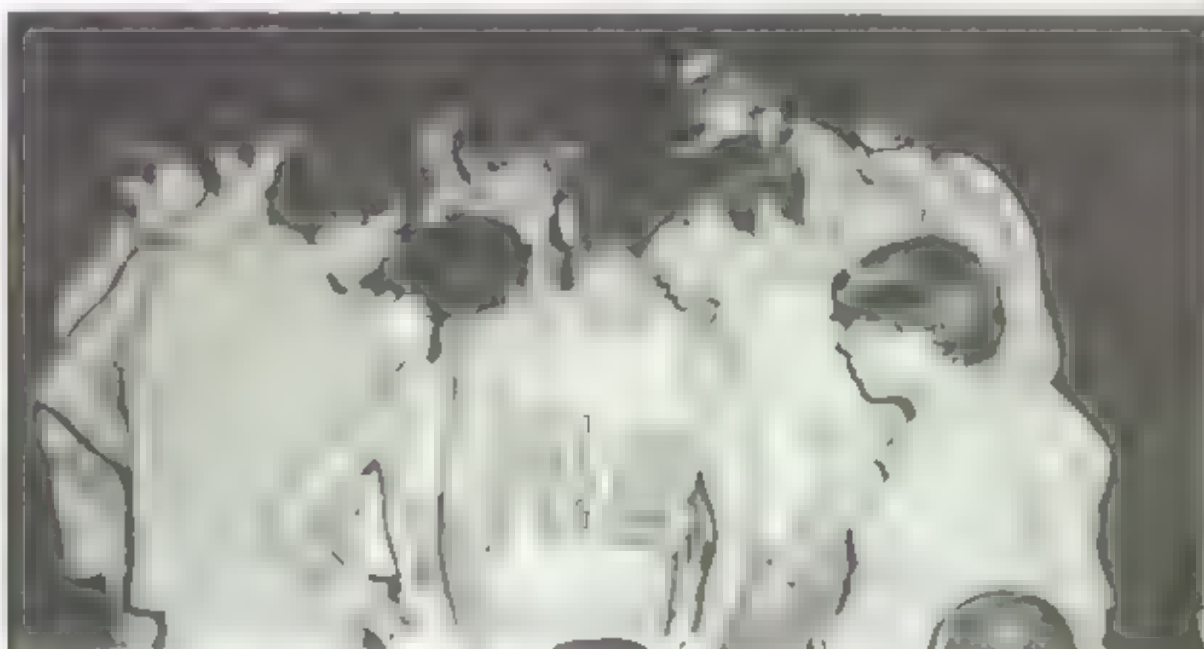

Leading the Glendale charge this year was Gary Sulzer, averaging 16.0 pts per game and Eric McKee, averaging 17.0 pts per game and 12.0 rebounds. Along with this tremendous two-some great contributions were made by Stan Roper, Doug Edwards, and Ray Blevins. Great part time work was done by Jerry Mensendick and "The Animal," Rod Federwisch.

With such a great team record, the Cards had to play as a team and under pressure as they did many a game. Every team seemed to be out to gun-down the Birds but Glendale refused to yield to any of the challenging opponents. Coming from behind is the mark of a championship team and the Cards proved worthy of the statement by never giving up when down.

Glendale fast break undoes division foes

The teams morale definitely a big part in the success of the club, was due to the bench as well as the crowd. Coach Gualdoni did a fine job in molding a championship club together this year, in his first year as head coach. Hats off to Coach Gualdoni!

In the last game of the year in Prescott the Cardinals had nothing to play for except their pride, which was exactly what they did. After being down by eighteen points at halftime the cards fired themselves up and throughly stamped out the Badger club. Doug Edwards and Gary Sulzer lead the way as the seniors from Glendale would not say die on their last regular season road trip.

Prescott lost twice to the mighty Cards, the first one at home in which Eric McKee sank the winning basket with two seconds left in overtime.

We wish to congratulate the Varsity Basketball club for providing Glendale High with exciting basketball, a great season record and another trophy to the trophy case. We would also like to wish the graduating seniors so long and thanks for the memories.

JV's finish with strong season

The year 1972 was a great year for junior varsity basketball. The Glendale JV squad finished with an impressive 17-3 record. Although they weren't undefeated as was the JV team two years ago they were equally as strong as they broke many old records. It must be noted, though, that this year's team played four more games than the team of 1969-70.

Lead by Matt Williams and Vince McKee the Cards established team records for rebounds, attempted shots, rebounds, and total points scored. Individual records for attempted shots, field goals made, total points, and season scoring average was broken by both McKee and Williams.

The rest of the starting team consisted of playmaker Jim Tolmachoff, forward, Dave Wagner, and Dan Bell and Steve Manke alternating at the low post.

This was truly a good year for JV basketball and the man who developed it was coach Ken France. Coach France did a great job while allowing everybody to play in most of the games. In fact against Cortez 13 players scored. Good luck next year as varsity players.

The freshman year in any sport is a skill-building one. Basketball greatly requires skills of coordination and ball handling, and these activities are practiced in regular drills. Shooting, passing, dribbling, and rebounding are fundamental, as well as learning to play as a team and keeping your temper when the call is against you. Coaches Waters and Cooke stressed these skills over the idea of winning in hopes of producing fine teams for future years.

Being alone on a mat with your opponent can be a tough spot, but GHS wrestlers handled themselves ably. The sport requires you to be in peak physical condition, besides needing quickness and agility. It is, at very least, a very rugged sport.

The varsity wrestling team finished out the season with a fine record. They were lead by undefeated men Randy Porch and last year's state champion Paul Gillot.

In the Skyline Division Tournament held in Van Camp Gym, the Cards placed seven men in the state tournament in Tucson later in the year. Finishing first were Porch and Gillot. Scott Lauchner finished third. Fourth place finishers were Ed Bull, Tim Treguboff, and Bennett Burns.

Wrestling builds stamina for future

The thought of wrestling often brings to mind the spectacular and bizarre performances of Jungle Boy, Gorgeous George and others of dubious fame. High school wrestling is not the same but still affords thrills for spectators.

Muscles straining with brute strength a wrestler must depend entirely upon himself and his training. His victory is one for himself and his team. He knows he has pitted himself against his opponent and won.

Even very small boys, who cannot qualify for other sports can have success in wrestling. Competing within a specific weight class, a person can develop himself to his fullest ability. He does not have to compare himself with giants because here there is a place for everyone.

The Glendale varsity baseball team for 1972 was expected to go far this year. Led by pitchers Richard Sanchez and Gus Burruel, who almost pitched the Cards to the division championship last year, the Redbirds were definitely to be considered a state contending team.

The Cardinal talent did not stop with the pitchers. Outfielder Joe Ezell was back to lead the hitting attack. Another surprise from last year was second baseman Jim Covney. Covney was one of surest fielders on the team and also acted as leadoff batter. The man behind the plate doing the catching was Brad Woods. Wood's strong arm was expected to thwart any base-stealing attempts by Cardinals opponents.

Last year Glendale wasn't expected to be a threat in the Skyline Division. However they reached the division finals only to be stopped by Washington. This year's team was expected to start where last year's team left off and we wish them all luck in hoping they made it to the state playoffs.

Baseball top spring sport

The JV baseball team has hopes for a good season this year and like most teams they have their problems. The main problem is the loss of a key player to the varsity squad. Another is the fact that they had a dismal season last year. But that does not exclude the fact that they may improve and pull a few surprises.

The team should be encouraged as they consist of a large part of future varsity players for next year. If things go well then they might have one of the best JV teams in the division.

The Cardinal track team of 1972 boasted one of the best fields of athletics in many years. Coaches Ken France and Bill Smith did a great job in molding them into a team of prominence.

The squads consist mostly of seniors and leading them is Lex Worthy who is one of the state's top pole vaulters. Gary Sulzer, who jumped 6'6" in the summer, will lead the high jumpers.

The muscle men of the team are Duke Perkins. Throwing the shot put, and Scott Lauchner, who hurls the discus.

In the speed category is Eric Keyes who runs the quarter mile. Dave Bokowski and Greg Hardin are the top sprinters in the 100 yard dash. Running the 220 are Steve Willis, Bokowski, and Sophomore Ron Venter.

The high hurdles are run by juniors Mike Wilkinson, Kevin Card, and by sophomore Paul Petroff. Other hopefuls in the same category are Steve Sexton and Mark Austin. Wilkinson and Petroff run the low hurdles.

In long distance running the Cards are lead by veteran Freddie Espinoza. He will run both the mile and two mile events.

The top long jumpers are Calvin Bunch and Steve Sexton.

Larry Maher, who had an arm injury, was expected to be ready sometime during the early part of the season. He will help boost the shot put team.

Individual skills stressed in track

Since ancient times, track has been an individual sport of high standing. The events are of various kinds and in most of them the individual athlete is on his own. Points are accrued for a team score but it is individual performances that earn them.

Agility and speed are necessary in running events such as the 100 yrd dash, the hurdles, and the distance runs. Brute strength is the key to success in discus and shot put. And who knows all the skills required to fly high in the air over a bar at the end of a pole.

Track sets out for new season

The junior varsity track team consisted of the future personnel for upcoming varsity teams. Needless to say they had problems, which has come to be expected from athletic team in all sports

One of the main problems was the loss of a few key men to the varsity quad. Another one was inexperience that seemed to hamper them in the early going

They had their moments, though, as during the season they began to receive experience that seemed to pay off. This was evident as they improved greatly near the end of the season

Tennis growing in popularity

The varsity tennis team was plagued by problems this year. The main one was lack of experience as the team consisted of only sophomores and juniors

The top Cardinal player is George Gillespie. He is followed by Skip Kaye and the two consist of all the varsity experience on the team. Both are juniors and played varsity last year. The sophomores are Marty Kendrick, Chip Starky, and Greg Rock

Although the Cards had a slow year, next year they will have the experience needed and then maybe Glendale will have some recognition in a different sport for once.

JV, frosh teams build skills

The JV tennis team enjoyed a fine season as they moved down opponents one after another

Lead by Dale Howard, Dan Staniec, David Haynes, John Gaylord, Brad Herring, and Paul Gwordy the team showed great promise for future varsity talent as they won matches by decisive margins

Tennis is growing more and more popular every year. There is a growing interest at Glendale High and it seems that the younger they are, the better they are. We have a new team and a new coach. Two thirds of the team are underclassmen, Lisa Morcomb, Gail Morcomb and Judy Frazier

The number one position is played by Jan Garland a sophomore, with the rest of the team comprised mainly of freshman. Mrs. Sheila Johnson, who has coached the freshman team in the past has taught her freshman well. In a few years, with a little experience we should have a leading team

Right: Judy Frazier reaches out to put an oncoming ball over the net

"You've come a long way, baby." This could well be the theme for the athletic program for females. Girls interest in sports has increased vastly over the years and the various teams are proof

Glendale has both varsity badminton and volleyball teams which compete with schools around the valley. They didn't have the greatest season, but they enjoyed themselves and that's what counts

No mention of sports at GHS is complete without a look at a vital person who is more often behind the scenes than in the spotlight. This person is Frank Rector, equipment manager for all athletics

Frank can be counted on for having jerseys in condition, a roll of tape at a crucial moment, and, more important, always being behind the team 100%. With a smile for everyone, Frank Rector is truly Mr. Indispensible

Senior leadership takes class to new high

During the course of their final year at Glendale, the Senior Class pursued many different aspects of high school life. They set the standard for the school as to spirit and won first place in the Homecoming float competition. They arose to fill the positions of leadership in athletics, academics, and social affairs. This Senior class took many different paths and marched into a new world of promise. They hoped to clear the way for those that follow and their activities to help Glendale will not soon be forgotten. It is with respect and congratulations that Glendale High sadly waves goodbye to those that are members of the class of '72.

Spirit of unity strong among Juniors

The junior class of 1971-1972 has reason to smile

Operating the concession stand and carrying out the task of yelling "Pepsi!" and saying, "No, I'm sorry we don't have coffee "

House of hard work on their float with a major setback didn't stop them from grinning and saying, "Well there's always next year."

Not even a limited budget for the Prom upset the juniors. Decorating and favors compensated for the controversy heard earlier

Juniors maintained a large representation in many clubs, athletics administrative and outside activities

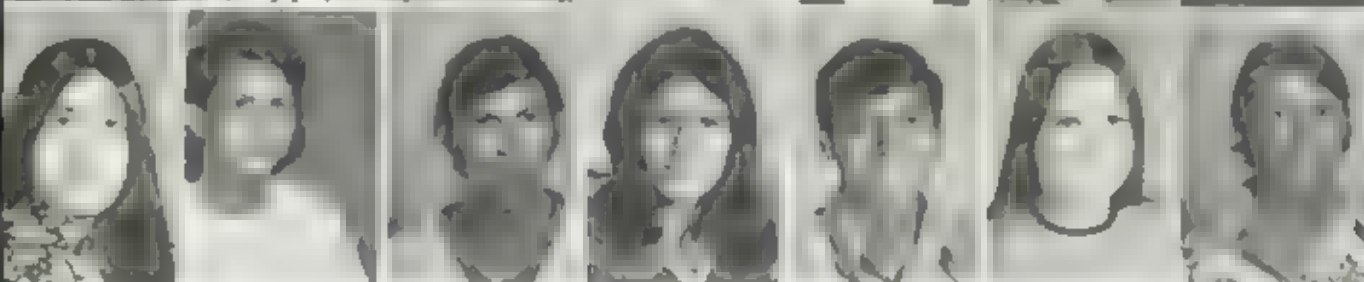

With trials came accomplishment and the memories of this year will make it easy to look back and smile

“Womens’ Lib” strong among sophomores

The class of 74 under their all girl officers began their 2nd year at Glendale High, in rousing fashion. The first major event of the year was a highly successful car wash even though few people worked, a $50 profit was earned. Proceeds from this car wash went to support the Oct. 22 dance after the Brophy game. Although the spirits were dampened by a home game loss, many people attended the dance and enjoyed the music of the Factory.

Amidst the preparations for homecoming the sophomore class decided to build a float. A theme was picked (We've Only Just Begun To Pin Them On The Line) and work began after many set backs, including the STICKY fingers of the senior class. They did not win a prize but deep in their hearts they knew they had done a good job.

Those people we saw reading handbooks and struggling to get to their next class were our freshman

The freshman this year had a lot of spirit. They were all really friendly and nice. They started off late in the year picking officers just in time to start their float. With a few problems, such as finding a wagon, they got a late start but still managed to get second place in the judging

A little later in the year during December, they held their class dance. They did have a problem though, no people showed up for the class meeting. In the middle of the year they also held a candy sale

The freshman have adapted well to Glendale way of life and their spirited activity should set the pace for an exceptional Sophomore year

English department proposes curriculum change

The hard-working English Department has, as always, assumed a heavy load at GHS

Their job is to educate and familiarize the students with literature written throughout the ages

Literature has withstood the strife of time and it is the job of English teachers to bring alive the beauty and wonder that man's mind has left open to us, the readers

Hopefully next year Glendale will come to know a new English curriculum. The proposition for the new system came about as a result of last year's North Central Evaluation and also many teacher's desire to up-date the current curriculum

The system would provide students with courses relevant to their personal interests

World literature, developing speech and writing skills, are all a necessary part of the English Department at GHS.

The largest department in the school provides students with a chance to develop various literary, speech, and journalistic techniques

Other activities related to this department include the annual plays, the Cardinal Highlights, the Speech Club, daily bulletin, and unofficially, the Cardinal Yearbook

These departments put in many hard and late hours to publish, present, and relate the things that all Glendale students should know or provide the opportunity to learn

The Science Department at GHS annually instructs a large population of students. With its complex concepts, perplexing problems and superfluous solutions, interests vary, as do the courses offered

Earth, Physical, and Biological, Electronics, sciences, along with chemistry, Physics and advanced Biology seems to educate, entertain and endow students to explore endeavors of achievement

Besides thrilling lectures, experimental disasters and triumphs the classes observe nature to test its laws

Other classes participate in night labs observing the heavenly bodies

The Radio, Science and Ecology Clubs are directly affiliated with the science department, widening the areas of interests available to students

Did you hear about the group of 30 Glendale students who went to observe courtroom procedures this year?

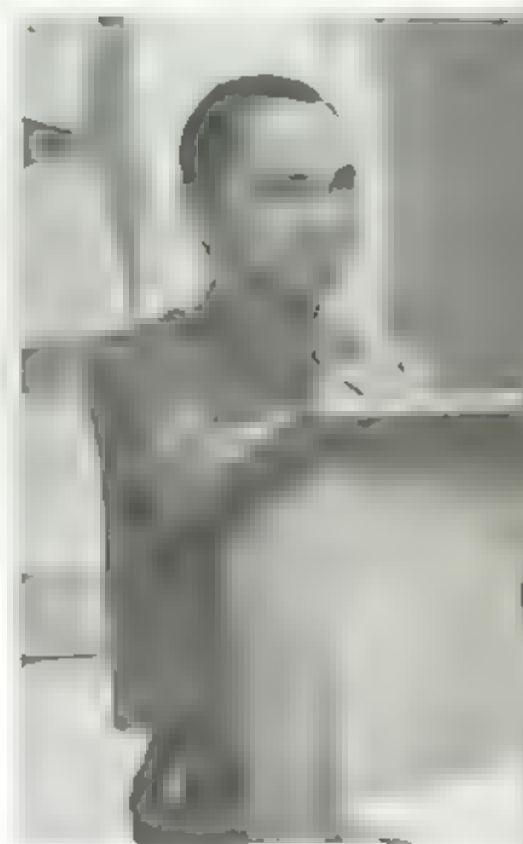

That's just one of the many things the History Department does to inform students of what happened yesterday and why it is or isn't happening today.

With American and World, Latin American History, along with World Geography, students gain a wide knowledge of current events as well as those of other days.

From general math to accelerated senior math, the math department presents a challenge for those students who have the pressure or initiative to progress.

Many areas of occupation require math courses and these are readily available to students-broadening the field of opportunities

With a variety of courses and teachers, each math class takes on its own personality. But the basic elements of hard work, impossible chapters, and homework will remain under all circumstances

The Allied Arts on our campus consist of Arts, Crafts, Band, and vocal music. None of which are required but have a large enrollment.

Arts and Crafts enables students to develop various artistic talents they may possess.

Band not only provides entertaining half time shows, but a chance for students to achieve musical goals. Vocal music also stages concerts throughout the year.

Many hours of hard work are put into these areas whether the outcome is a painting or performance, it is enjoyed by all.

No matter what language you speak, there's another one for you at G.H.S. Be it French, German, Latin, Russian or Spanish, the many qualified teachers at Glendale are prepared to translate your language into theirs.

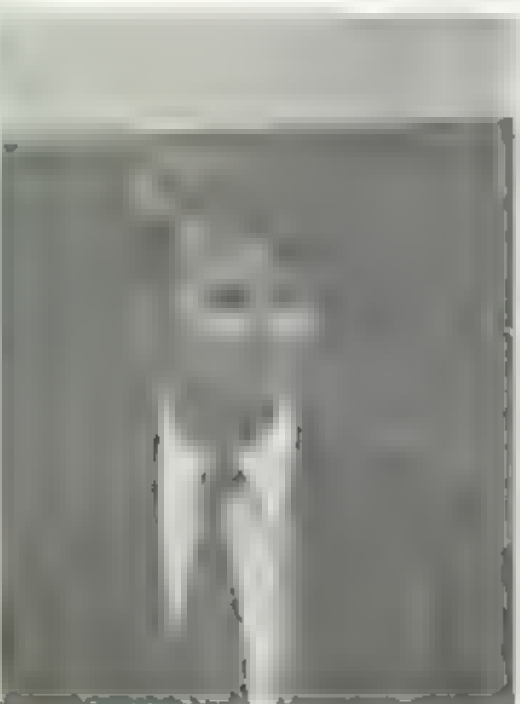

Each language sponsors a club, all active on Glendale's campus.

Many other activities include the Foreign Language Club Dinner and the International Banquet which sponsors our incoming foreign exchange student as well as the one we send out.

Our Home Ec. Department this year has classes for everyone, freshman to seniors. It consists of Child Development, Family Living, Home Furnishings, Clothings, and Foods

In the changing times of this world, many girls as well as boys find these courses extremely profitable, and consider them an asset to be offered at GHS

Whether it's bathing a baby or cooking a souffle, the Home Economics department is there for those who are willing to take advantage of the many opportunities

Teaching students to work with their hands at a vocational trade is the goal of our Industrial Arts Department

This department, includes auto, metal and wood shops, along with drafting and Industrial Cooperative Education

Mr. LaGrow in Auto Shop teaches students to mechanics necessary to repair the engine as well as understand the workings of the automobile

In metal shop, students learn welding and general metal works, with Mr

Ambrose

Mr. Green and Mr. Schwartz, share the wood shop where anything from shoe-shine bits to grin cabinets are made

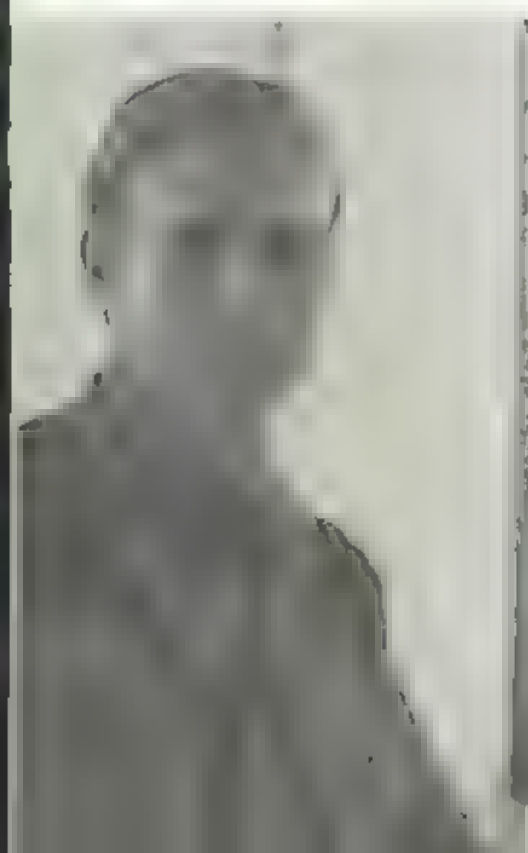

The way to being a architect is through Mr. Shaw in drafting class, and Mr Simpson instructs ICE where students gain on-the-job experience

Our counselors, librarians and teacher for the orthopedically handicapped are all apart of Glendale's Instructional Service Department

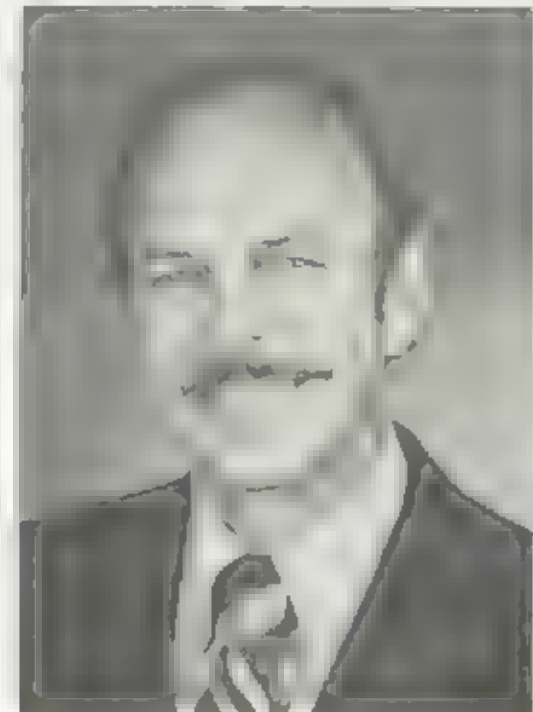

Working out of the classroom to aid Glendale students, these people devote time, patience, and understanding when they seem to be needed the most

The counselors, working out problem from vocational to personal, the librarians taking on the tedious task of finding the information you need, and the teacher for the orthopedically handicapped who aides physical, mental and emotionally handicapped children to achieve a normal level of proficiency, are all a vital and appreciated part of GHS

Administration guides school's growth

The Board of Education, while not often seen in action, is the ultimate policy making body of the entire school district. These elected officials serve to carry out the programs which, hopefully, will benefit the students.

President of the Board is Joseph Vorhees, a Glendale dentist. He has served two terms, for a total of ten years, and has seen great growth during his tenure.

Past President is Arthur Lindberg, re-elected this year. He is a physician here in Glendale. He has a special interest in GHS as two of his daughters attend school locally.

Another local figure is Arnold Rovey, elected in 1968. The Roveys are long-time Glendale residents and many of their names can be found in past school records.

Two ministers also hold seats on the board. Rex Sprink, who is pastor of Shepherd of the Valley Lutheran Church, is serving his first term, being elected in 1969. Everett Luther, who is affiliated with the Beatitudes, was appointed to fill the term of John F. Long and is now serving his first elected period.

Superintendent Howard Roberts is seeing the school district through a time of tremendous growth. With Apollo opening in 1970, and several others scheduled for the immediate future, the district is working hard to keep even with the Valley population explosion.

Up in that front administration building are the men working hard to see that things go straight at GHS

Principal, Mr. Robert Christensen, along with Assistant Principal, Mr. Wade Oliver in charge of student services, Mr. Bruce Heatwole, Assistant Principal in charge of student activities and Mr. Robert Hutchison, Dean of Students work with the school board

This frequently unobserved policy-making body serves the students and community in the best of interests.

Mr Christensen, principal since 1968, has currently seen the school through a time of change. As critics of education become louder and more common, the administration has tried to see that the school curriculum becomes more responsive to student needs. It is the principal who must lead these changes and Mr. Christensen is an active voice on many committees.

The job of discipline is never a pleasant one, and you may not hear Mr. Heatwole called "Mr. Nice-Guy" Yet his duties extend far beyond discipline and into all areas of student activity. Athletics, the bookstore, organizations -all are part of his domain

The counseling office and registration are two major concerns for Mr. Oliver. In his third year at Glendale, he can usually be seen with a yellow-schedule-change form in his hand

A new member of the administration is the Dean of Students Mr. Hutchison, a long time teacher stepped into the job, which is primarily concerned with attendance and tardies

Efficiency is the name of the game for the clerical staff. They seem to know what's happening when no one else does and can usually be counted on for an answer to every problem.

The front desk is ably handled by Juanita Gilbert, receptionist and general Girl-Friday. Records clerk is Mary Ann Johnston. Ladye Golter is Mr. Oliver's secretary and Gloria Headley is Mr. Heatwole's secretary; Mr. Christensen's secretary is Evalyn Butler.

Moving to the rear office, Thelma Coker, the nurse, is busy in her office. In the attendance office are Clara Graber and Joyce Bollinger, while Barbara Rogers holds forth in the bookstore.

Lillian Quinn can be found in the library. Pat Murdock is the aide for the Orthopedically Handicapped Program. It is difficult to imagine the school functioning without the aid and assistance of any of these dedicated women.

Classified staffs operate school efficiently

The summer and part of the school year were spent working on the paint job that made GHS the "green school."

Other major tasks included rekeying the whole school and laying a tile floor in the cafeteria. Students are fervently hoping to see work begin on the refrigeration system, which has been so long awaited.

Serving three separate lunch periods, cafeteria and snack bar workers serve a nutritious hot lunch as well as selected a la carte items. Hamburgers, sandwiches and french-fries are always popular choices as the lines form every day.

This year several special dinners were served where faculty and students ate together. For thanksgiving, a delicious turkey dinner was served which only cost a quarter. At Christmas, the festive scene was repeated, featuring roast pork prepared by the FFA.

Now that you've survived another year what does it mean? It all seems so much the same. Still, everything changes through one school year and you're part of that change. Everything moves around you just as life changes even as you live it. The people you meet and the things you do . . . it all makes you more of a person in the way you live . . . and laugh . . . and love. Life at Glendale, it becomes a part of you as you change to make the world what it is.

Editor's page a year in the making

NOW WATCH THIS! Watch this life before it gets past. There's too much of it to live

If this yearbook does its job well, this year will not pass without a lasting memory preserved in print. A chronicle of the people of Glendale High and what made them what they were and shaped the rest of their lives. Life with all of its times, both happy and sad, full of exuberant human complexities

The small mosaic yearbook staff tried to capture these complexities, complex in itself being a mosaic cross-section of the student population. There was every representation on the staff, ranging from super-freak to super-straight. Most of the time all were super-tired

The book and making it was full of fun and surprises. Like finding strange cryptic writings on the walls of the darkroom or having to walk around without stepping on layouts or tripping over Coke Bottles. The midnight forays across the campus for refreshments through the National Guard lines were fun too. The most important decisions were made at the strangest times, like 4:15 in the afternoon. With a staff like we had, strange times were unavoidable

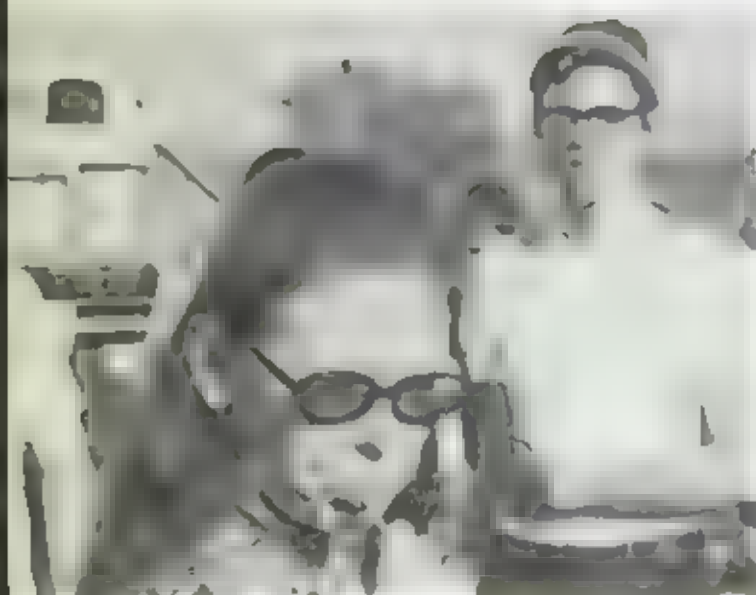

Everyone deserves a great deal. Steve Abeyta should be honored for his great contribution of innovative artwork on the cover and division pages. He and Genny Batcheller spent their hours and talent on layout and copy in the critical early stages of production. Gloria Eppinger and Debbie Edwards worked over a hot typewriter as the staff kept them busy, just as Terry Black, our Advertising Manager, kept everyone busy turning in ads to lay out.

Becki Rohrs worked as Organization Editor, Carol Eppinger took on the mammoth Class section (as well as everything else) and Dan Johnson was academics and Faculty Editor. All three constructed their own sections, as well as helping each other out and completing Tim Grace's sports section for him. Theresa Damiani and Nancy Kmetko dropped by once in a while to help as well as various other students and Thespians who walked through the door and into the middle of your yearbook. Also, for the first time ever, the whole staff worked at some time or another in the darkroom along with our sole full-time darkroom technician, Eric Mechem

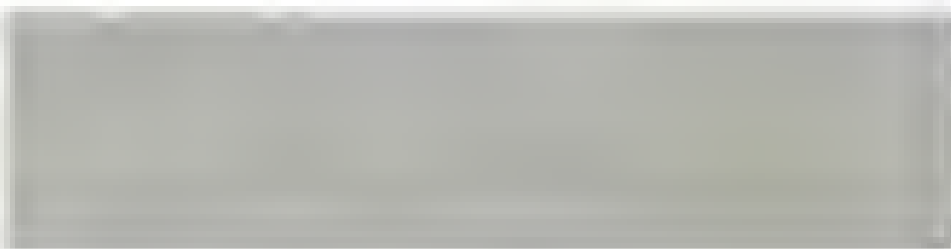

Of course, the entire staff has to look to one person, our advisor, Ms. Laura Claunch. She did everything we couldn't or didn't think of doing (and that's saying quite a lot). Without her help the book would have folded in the planning stages.

i wish i knew, i wish i knew, what makes me me, what makes you you.
